1. Claims 2-6 and 10-20 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 2/14/2005. However, because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 1, the phrase “to ensure compliance packaging, ... on a daily basis” is vague and indefinite because it has no clear meaning. In claim 7, the phrase “production and distribution of the system via automated means” is confusion and indefinite because it is not clear the meaning of the distribution of the system via automated means.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3728

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bouthiette (5,788,079). To the extent that the Examiner can determine the scope of the claims, Bouthiette discloses a medication and healthcare supplements distribution system (1, 3, 9) to ensure compliance packaging, customized to the needs of an individual patient and industry supported so as to enable the user to take medications as prescribed on a daily basis including indicia (6) indicating the day of the week and another indicia (8) indicating the time of the day. The production and distribution of the system via automated means.

6. Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cha (6,371,297). To the extent that the Examiner can determine the scope of the claims, Cha discloses a medication and healthcare supplements distribution system (10) to ensure compliance packaging, customized to the needs of an individual patient and industry supported so as to enable the user to take medications as prescribed on a daily basis including indicia indicating the day of the week and another indicia (110) indicating the time of the day. The production and distribution of the system via automated means (Figure 1).

7. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kerpe (4,318,477).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bouthiette (5,788,079) or Cha (6,371,297) in view of Bayliss, IV (6,036,017). Bouthiette or Cha appears to disclose the production of the package via automated means including a database and operative software or business software such as the indicia printed on the package. To the extent that either of Bouthiette or Cha fails to disclose the automated means comprise a database and operative software or business software, Bayliss teaches a medication and healthcare supplements distribution system via automated means comprising a processor having a database with software for printing an indicia and graphic (32) on a label (abstract) of the package. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art in view of Bayliss to modify the automated means of Bouthiette or Cha so the automated means comprises a database and operative software or business software to facilitate the production of the system and since such automated means is common to a manufacture for the production and distribution system.
